

Thai Restaurant Review

Here is an example of a restaurant review with 12 words missing. Choose one word for each missing gap.

The Blue Elephant is a new Thai restaurant that opened its doors (1) _____ the town centre just over a month ago. I went along with a friend to see if they offer a genuine Thai experience (2) _____ lunch.

The place definitely looks the part as I felt as though I had just walked (3) _____ a restaurant in Bangkok. Even the waitress looked authentic, as she was wearing a traditional Thai silk outfit.

The menu was fairly limited, so we opted for the lunchtime special (4) _____ a starter, main course and a dessert. First, we decided to share some spring rolls, which prove to (5) _____ a good choice. For the main course, we had a Thai green curry and a large bowl of Jasmine rice. The curry was a little too spicy for me, (6) _____ my friend thought it was spot on. After (7) _____ we ordered a bowl of tasty mango with sticky rice that finished (8) _____ a memorable lunch.

Considering (9) _____ restaurant has only been open for a short time, it was great (10) _____ see that it has got off to a great start even though it wasn't busy. However, I am sure (11) _____ word gets around about the quality of food, it won't be long (12) _____ they will be taking bookings only.
